

- Jonathan Furner (2006). Social classification: Panacea or Pandora? In Advances in Classification Research Volume 17. Available: <http://dlist.sir.arizona.edu/1855/>
- Xia Lin, Joan E. Beaudoin, Yen Bui, and Kaushal Desai. (2006). Exploring characteristics of social classification. In Advances in Classification Research Volume 17. Available: <http://dlist.sir.arizona.edu/1790>
- Emma Tonkin. (2006). Searching the long tail: Hidden structure in social tagging. In Advances in Classification Research Volume 17. Available: <http://dlist.sir.arizona.edu/1791>
- Toine Bogers, Willem Thoonen, and Antal van den Bosch. (2006). Expertise classification: Collaborative classification vs. automatic extraction. In Advances in Classification Research Volume 17. Available: <http://dlist.sir.arizona.edu/1792>
- Jennifer Trant. (2006). Social classification and folksonomy in art museums: Early data from the steve.museum tagger prototype. In Advances in Classification Research Volume 17. Available: <http://dlist.sir.arizona.edu/1793>
- Martha Kellogg Smith. (2006). Viewer tagging in art museums: Comparisons to concepts and vocabularies of art museum visitors. In Advances in Classification Research Volume 17. Available: <http://dlist.sir.arizona.edu/1853/>
- Megan Winget. (2006). User-defined classification on the online photo sharing site Flickr ... Or, How I learned to stop worrying and love the million typing monkeys. In Advances in Classification Research Volume 17. Available: <http://dlist.sir.arizona.edu/1854/>
- Melanie Feinberg. (2006). An examination of authority in social classification systems. In Advances in Classification Research Volume 17. Available: <http://dlist.sir.arizona.edu/1783/>
- D. Grant Campbell. (2006). A phenomenological framework for the relationship between the Semantic Web and user-centered tagging systems. In Advances in Classification Research Volume 17. Available: <http://dlist.sir.arizona.edu/1838/>
- Joseph T. Tennis. (2006). Social tagging and the next steps for indexing. In Advances in Classification Research Volume 17. Available: <http://dlist.sir.arizona.edu/1726/>