SUMMARY

A total of 16 Agricultural 4-H Clubs were carried during the year with an enrollment of 184 members and completions of 134. Of the enrollment, 159 were boys; and 25 were girls. One hundred fourteen boys completed their work, and 20 girls completed. This is a relatively high percentage of completions when it is considered that high standards were set and insisted on. No member received credit for the year's work unless the project was completed in a satisfactory manner and a carefully kept record book handed in.

Activities during the year included judging teams for the Tucson Livestock Show, the 4-H Fair and Auction Day, the County Achievement Days at the various clubs, the 4-H Summer Camp, the 4-H Round-Up, the State Fair, and other 4-H State and County Contests, radio talks on the 4-H program, assistance in garden, poultry, rabbits, and other small stock projects, as well as assisting Mr. Blackledge when called upon.

Approximately 25 broadcasts were made over Station KTUC on the Pima County Country Journal of the Air. Subjects covered during the year included safety, fire protection, poultry, rabbits, rural housing, garden, 4-H Club work, and other miscellaneous material of interest to rural listeners.

Three hundred ninety-nine farm and home visits were made, and 240 of these were primarily to interest parents in the 4-H program. Thirty tours were made with members of different clubs to gain instruction in judging and to study projects. Approximately 50 news articles were written for various papers and magazines relating to 4-H Club work and various other farm activities.

A total of 421 members reported for the year for judging experience in the different fields and covered 60 different individuals. Twenty-four different members were trained and actually participated in demonstrations. Recreational leadership training was completed by 14 different members. One hundred thirty-four members properly completed their record books and accounts.

Generally speaking, the 4-H Club program for the year can be considered a success because the enrollment was good, the members spread over the county, the number of completions satisfactory, and more interest was shown in 4-H Club work.

FOREWORD

Assistant County Agricultural Agent

The following is a description of the work and projects handled by O. W. Dishaw, Assistant County Agricultural Agent, during the period from December 1, 1946, to December 1, 1947.

Agricultural 4-H Club Work

The Assistant County Agent is in charge of all Agricultural 4-H Club Work in the county; and part of his duties consist of advising and assisting leaders, contacting parents and members, attending club meetings, arranging tours, judging and demonstration teams, promoting and planning for State Fair, County Fair, 4-H Fair, Summer Camp, Round-Up, and other competitive events.

Home Gardens

The Assistant Agent works with the County Agent in the promotion of local garden projects. Assistance is given with the preparation of soil, time of planting, and the correct varieties to plant.

Poultry

The Assistant Agent gives considerable time to poultry. Most of this time has been given to giving advice about disease, the opportunities for poultry farming in the community, and the selection of stock.

Rabbits

The Assistant Agent has taken full charge of this program. While the rabbit industry in Arizona is still small, it is a growing industry and offers returns that are comparable to poultry. Many problems remain to be solved in the summer care of rabbits, but steady progress is being made.

Radio

The assistant agent was on the radio about 25 times during the year over a state-wide net work. Specialists from the university and outstanding agricultural people were utilized whenever possible.

General

The Assistant Agent also performs any other duties assigned to him by the county agent.

2. As often as possible, the assistant agent inspects and assists with each individual project.

3. Demonstrations are given several times a year in the various projects.

4. Club members are required to keep written records of their projects and to turn these records in during April of each year at the time of 4-H Market Day. Certificates and pins are given to club members completing their work. A complete file of these completions is kept in the County Office.

5. Most local, county, state, and national contests are completed in the fall. Club members are urged to participate in these contests and in others when they are announced. Club members first participate in county contests, and the winners of county contests are then entered in the State Contests. Winners of State Contests enter Regional or National Contests which are judged by the National Committee on Boys and Girls 4-H Club Work at Chicago, Illinois.

4-H CLUBS

Only a part of the 4-H Clubs in the county carried agricultural projects, and this was largely due to the fact that some clubs were school clubs and facilities were not good for agricultural projects, such as livestock, gardens, and the like.

Catalina 4-H Club

This club was much more active than in the preceding year. A new leader, Harvey Cowley, was secured for the club; and a total of eleven members were secured for the year. Projects carried were goats, rabbits, poultry, dairy, beef, and hogs. This club had an excellent record of completions with nine completions out of eleven enrollments. One of the members, Jim Cowley, had the Champion Beef Steer at the 4-H Market Day. Another member, Norman Price, was the State Champion Dairy Judge at the 1947 Round-Up. The present leader will continue with the club for the 1947-1948 season, and prospects are very bright for this club.

Marana 4-H Club

The Marana 4-H Club showed a big improvement in the quality of the work over the previous year. Ten members were enrolled in the club, and all 10 completed. Bert Beluzzi, a teacher, was the leader and did an excellent job. Projects carried in this club were turkeys, colts, milk cow, beef, pigs, chickens, and miscellaneous. Although Mr. Beluzzi is leaving to teach at another school, a replacement leader was secured in the teacher who followed him, Mr. Melvin Huber. In this club, meetings and lunches were held once a month at the various homes. At those times, projects would be inspected and judging instruction given. Several members from this club attended 4-H Summer Camp.

Flowing Wells 4-H Agricultural Club

This club is a new development in Flowing Wells and is run separately from the Flowing Wells 4-H Club, which is a school club in handicraft. This club was led by Mr. Freeman Woods, a local dairyman and an expert in judging dairy stock. This club was highly successful, and an enlarged enrollment is expected for the coming year. Projects were registered Holsteins, registered Jerseys, registered Suffolk sheep, beef steers, pigeons, pheasants, rabbits, poultry, garden, and miscellaneous. This club won many honors during the year.

Several of the clubs' members competed in open classes with the adults at the State Fair and covered themselves with honors. Larry Hunts, showing a senior yearling heifer, placed third in the open classes and second in the 4-H Class. Barney Hunts placed second Junior Suffolk ram and second junior Suffolk ewe in the open classes competing with entries from as far away as Canada. This boy also took Champion Junior ram and ewe in open classes confined to Arizona exhibitors. He also placed first in all 4-H classes in which he was entered. Charles Woods, showing a junior yearling heifer, placed ninth in a field of 18 in the open classes and first in the 4-H Class. His brother Edward, showing a junior yearling heifer, placed 13th in an open class of 18 and second in the 4-H Class.

Emery Park 4-H Livestock Producers Club

This club led by John Dayton had the poorest year in its history as regards completions. The projects were confined to beef and pigs; and while the work done was of good quality, the members did not turn in their record books. The prospects for this club are not too bright for next year, as most of the members are reaching college age and no new young members have been admitted.

Wrightstown 4-H Club

This was a school club led by Mrs. Kristine King, a teacher. Projects were insects, minerals, and handicraft. The club was quite successful completing 14 out of 15 members. Several of these members attended Summer 4-H Camp. Although Mrs. King is leaving, the teacher who replaces her will continue as a 4-H Club leader.

Panther 4-H Club (Emery Park)

This club was small and composed of boys from 10-13, but was a very active club. It was led by a layman, Mr. B. O. Peel of Emery Park. Projects in this club were dairy, rabbits, poultry, pigeons, and turkeys. Two junior members, Kernie Dishaw and Sidney Peel, were chosen as the Grand Champion Junior Demonstration Team of the State at the Round-Up. Kernie Dishaw has displayed his rabbits in open competition in several states and has always been among the winners. This club will retain the same leader for next year.

Amphitheater 4-H Club

This has been one of the most active clubs in the county with Mrs. P. E. Guitteau as leader. While the enrollment is small, eight, the members have distinguished themselves in most fields in 4-H work. This year three members of the club won free trips to Chicago: Edward Guitteau won the Cudahy Meat Animal Trip; Dorothy Meikle, the Swift Packing Company trip in poultry; and another member of the community, but not of this club, won the Westinghouse trip in Electricity; and Everett Thurston, a lone member, but listed under this club, won the Walgreen gold watch for the best project in the state in Home Grounds Beautification. Notice has just been received that Everett is one of the eight winners in the United States in the National Home Grounds Beautification Contest and will receive a trip to the National 4-H Congress at Chicago in December.

Dud Guitteau and Fred McAninch placed first senior demonstration team in poultry at the Round-Up. Edward Guitteau, Fred McAninch, Dud Guitteau, and Dorothy Meikle finished high in all judging contests entered. Mrs. Guitteau will again lead this club.

Sunnyside 4-H Club

Sunnyside School had three clubs with each grade making up a club. The project was handicraft. The number of completions, while relatively low, was very good for a school with a large enrollment (27 completions out of a possible 47). Mr. Raul Gomez was the leader. For the next year, the club will be led by Mr. Weston and the project changed to mechanical arts until the new shop room is completed and a return to handicraft can be made. In point of numbers, this constitutes the largest club in Pima County.

Tanque Verde School

This club led by Miss Maude Couchman was one of the outstanding clubs of the county. An insect club, this group captured the most honors of any insect club in the state. Billy Fifield had the top insect collection in the state. Mr. Donisage has taken Miss Couchman's place at this school and will carry on sewing and handicraft.

Vail 4-H Club

Vail had an insect club led by Miss Esta Trotter. This club was the second best insect club in the state. Miss Trotter will remain at Vail as a leader and will have a health club this year. She is a dependable and efficient leader.

Continental 4-H Club

Continental as usual had a handicraft club, and it was of the usual high caliber. Mrs. Bess O'Brien led this club and the number of completions were very high. She will again lead this club for the coming year.

Arivaca 4-H Club

A small group in an isolated community, this club is one of the most active in the county. It carries handicraft of all types. A large share of county honors has always gone to this group. Mrs. Etta Ruggles, a laywoman in the community, leads this group and will remain as a leader for next year.

Sahuarita 4-H Club

This club carried handicraft and was led by Mr. William Gregory. The turnover in this school hampered Mr. Gregory, but his work was very satisfactory. He will again lead the club in the same project.

Flowing Wells 4-H Club

Mr. H. O. Barber led this fine group. While the percentage of completions was relatively small due to the late start, the quality of the work was high. Mr. Barber will again lead the group and a much better record is expected.

San Xavier 4-H Club

This is a new club formed this summer with Mr. Bob Parker and Mrs. Fred Glass as co-leaders. While this group is small, only eight members, it is a very active group and has turned out very faithfully for judging contests. Several members of this club made the teams for the State Fair Judging Contests and made good scores at that fair.

4-H ACTIVITIES

Pima County was very active in 4-H work during the past year, and her 4-H Club members competed in every 4-H event sponsored by the State Office.

State-Wide Livestock Judging Contest

The Pima County training for this event consisted of several meetings using slides with Walter Armer explaining the finer points of judging. Several field trips were also scheduled with the more important ones being held at the Midvale Farms and the H. B. Thurber Ranch. The teams were chosen by using the members having the top total score in the various tryouts. As a result of this competition, the two teams to represent Pima County were made up of the following individuals:

Edward Guitteau, Mike Lacagnina, Scotty Bunnell, Wayne Corder, Don Paddock, Charlie Woods, Joe Whalen, and Clovis Abbott. The alternates for the two teams were Gary Goodman and Edward Woods. While the Pima County teams did not finish high in the team scoring, finishing fifth and sixth, the scores of all teams were closely bunched with only 11 points separating the first seven teams. In the individual scores, Pima County took top honors when Charles Woods, an eleven year old member of the Flowing Wells Agricultural 4-H Club, scored 429 out of 600 possible points. Wayne Corder of Emery Park was fourth, and Joe Whalen of the Catalina 4-H Club was ninth in individual ranking. Charles Woods and Wayne Corder were prize-winners with part of their expenses being paid to the Round-Up by the Valley National Bank of Tucson.

Pima County 4-H Fair

The annual 4-H Fair and Market Day was held as in the previous year on the Safford School grounds on Fourth Street. The Tucson Chamber of Commerce sponsored the show, and this was the fifth successive year of their sponsorship of this event. This was probably the largest fair ever held by 4-H members in this county. A total of over 650 entries were made, and practically 100% of the entries made were on exhibit.

The Fair Committee departed this year from the policy of giving money prizes and reverted to the old practice of giving gold medals for all first prize winners only. The committee felt that the fair was getting too large to continue money prizes and felt that the medals would give the winner more satisfaction since they could be enjoyed for many years while the money would soon be spent.

The Beef Cattle Department was about the same size as in 1946, but this year a part of the animals shown were fat heifers. The quality was very good, and it is worthy of note that seven out of the twelve fat beef animals graded out choice. It might also be mentioned that two of the animals that graded good were on the borderline of choice, and another ten days of feeding would have put them in that class.

The Dairy Department showed a considerable increase in size and quality. This department is still relatively small, but about a dozen animals were shown; and more interest is being shown in this department. The Swine, Sheep, and Goat Departments were about the same size as in previous years. The quality of the swine was not as good as in 1946, but the goats and sheep were of much higher quality.

The Rabbit Department was the largest ever shown in a 4-H Fair in Pima County, and many of the animals were of high enough quality to have competed in Open Classes at most shows. The exhibit of poultry remained about the same in size, but the betterment in quality was clearly evident. The 4-H members are learning that quality chicks are the cheapest in the long run, and many members are securing chicks which have been hatched from eggs from flocks which have been trap-nested for production records.

The Pigeon Department showed a remarkable increase over previous years. The birds were of unusual quality since a number of 4-H boys have gone in for stock of merit. The Handicraft Department showed the biggest increase of any department in the show. While no more schools elected to follow this project, more members in the various schools took this as their project. It will probably be necessary to revise this department at our next fair by setting up more classes than formerly.

The City of Tucson through City Manager Martin was very cooperative in providing bleachers, tables, and transportation for the fair. The Board of Supervisors of Pima County also cooperated by providing men and transportation in hauling material to the fair. Business men donated liberally to furnish prizes and other material for the 4-H Fair.

4-H ACHIEVEMENT DAYS

Every club in the county functioned throughout the year, and all completed a good percentage of their members. A considerable number of these clubs held local achievements at which a large number of parents and friends were able to view the achievements of the members. Among the clubs holding local achievement programs were Sunnyside School, Panther 4-H Club, Continental 4-H Club, Arivaca 4-H Club, Tanque Verde 4-H Club, Wrightstown 4-H Club, Amphitheater 4-H Club, Marana 4-H Club, Vail 4-H Club, and the Flowing Wells 4-H Club.

ROUND-UP

Pima County 4-H Clubs prepared actively for the State Round-Up at the University of Arizona, June 1-4. Five judging teams were placed in the field, a junior and senior dairy judging team, a junior and senior livestock team, and a senior poultry team. Pima County was fortunate in securing the top dairy judging honors in the Senior Division, second place in the Junior Division in dairy judging, third place in the Junior Division in livestock judging, fourth place in the Senior Division in livestock judging, fourth place in the Senior Division in livestock judging, and second place in the Senior Division in poultry judging. In the Senior Division, dairy judging, Norman Price of the Catalina Club of Pima County led the field and was accorded honors as State Champion in that division. In addition to these judging teams, three demonstration teams were placed in competition, one on rabbits, one on dairy, and one on poultry. The Junior Rabbit Demonstration Team of Kernie Dishaw and Sidney Peel was given the Grand Champion honors in the junior division.

SUMMER 4-H CAMP

The 4-H members of Pima County were much interested in the 4-H Summer Camp held at Camp Geronimo in the Tonto Basin Mountains, 22 miles East of Payson. A total of 41 members sent in applications for camp, but only 28 actually made the trip. Transportation from Tucson to Phoenix was furnished by the State Highway Department and the Board of Supervisors of Pima County. Transportation from Phoenix to Camp Geronimo and return was by chartered planes of the Arizona Airways. Many schools and people loaned equipment for use at the camp, and the following might be mentioned: Amphitheater High School, Marana High School, Sahuarita Grammar School, the University of Arizona Athletic Department, R. A. Wright of the Y. M. C. A., and Miss Jean Stewart, State Home Demonstration Leader of the Agricultural Extension Service.

The camp operated from July 19-July 26 and is in the writer's opinion one of the most worthwhile devices for holding 4-H members in 4-H Club work. In fact, the Summer Camp was largely responsible for our being able to hold several of our 4-H Clubs this year.

COUNTY, STATE, AND NATIONAL 4-H CONTESTS

Four-H members from Pima County entered all contests in which they had representation. The results of the county contests found Jerry Coppola, Dorothy Meikle, Dud Guitteau, Clovis Abbott, and Kernie Dishaw receiving silver medals provided by Swift Packing Company in poultry. Beef gold medals were won by Wayne Corder and Bob Echols in the Wilson Beef Animal Contest. Leadership awards went to Myrna Stephens and Don Paddock. The Home Grounds Beautification award was won by Everett Thurston of Amphitheater. This award was furnished by the Walgreen Foundation. The garden award by the Sears Foundation went to Sidney Peel of Emery Park.

Dairy awards furnished by Kraft Cheese Company went to Charles Woods and Larry Hunts, both of Flowing Wells. The winners of all the county contests who were 14 years or more of age and who had had at least three years of 4-H Club work were placed in competition in the state contests. These members were Dorothy Meikle - poultry, Wayne Corder - beef, Everett Thurston - Home Grounds Beautification, and Edward Guitteau in the Cudahy Meat Animal Contest. Pima County was highly successful in the State Contests with Dorothy Meikle emerging as top poultry entry in the state, winning the coveted trip to the National 4-H Congress in Chicago. Edward Guitteau also won a trip by being one of the two top individuals in the state in the Cudahy Contest. Everett Thurston was the best individual in the Home Grounds Beautification Contest, and his reward was a gold watch from the Walgreen Foundation. The remaining member, Wayne Corder, of Emery Park, finished second in the Wilson Meat Animal Contest. Everett Thurston automatically qualified for National competition by being State Winner and was selected as one of the eight outstanding 4-H members in the nation in this contest. As a result, he, too, won a free trip to the National 4-H Congress at Chicago.

ARIZONA STATE FAIR

Pima County 4-H members entered the program at the State Fair wholeheartedly. Many members entered their exhibits in both the 4-H and open classes and acquitted themselves well. Barney Hunts of Flowing Wells exhibited a junior Suffolk ram and a ewe in both open and 4-H classes. He received second award in the open classes on both animals, and then went on to take Arizona Champion junior ram and ewe in the open classes. He also placed the animals first in the 4-H classes. His brother, Larry Hunts, showing a senior yearling Jersey heifer, placed third in the state in a class of nine in the open class and first in the 4-H class. Charley and Edward Woods showing junior yearling Holstein heifers placed 9th and 13th in the open classes in a group of 18, and 1st and 2nd in the 4-H Classes.

Edward Guitteau showing a fine string of fancy pigeons in open classes placed 31 firsts and four seconds out of a total of 40 exhibits. Kernie Dishaw showed a group of New Zealand White rabbits in the open classes, placing more firsts and more rabbits than any other New Zealand White exhibitor in the show. Sidney Peel showed a New Zealand White Intermediate doe which took first in the 4-H class.

Six judging teams from the Pima County 4-H group competed against other 4-H teams of the state. Results were one first, two seconds, and three thirds. Members competing on the various teams are listed below:

Several of these members made outstanding scores in their fields. Edward Woods of Flowing Wells with a score of 536½ out of 600 was high individual in both the junior and senior divisions in Dairy Judging. Third in senior rank in the same contest was Edward Guitteau of Amphitheater. Bob Echols of the Catalina Club was third high in the senior division in Livestock Judging. Dud Guitteau placed second high in the state in the Junior Poultry and Rabbit Judging.

OTHER 4-H ACTIVITIES

Judging teams occupied an important part of 4-H Club work in Pima County during the year. Approximately 30 judging instruction classes were held covering the fields of poultry, rabbits, dairy, swine, and beef. Attendance at all judging instruction was good running from nine to as high as 33. Dairy judging seemed most popular of the group and drew the largest attendance. Among the many people assisting in this work were: Frank Armer, Walter Armer, Dan Clarke, Ralph Van Sant, G. F. Woods, and many of the local leaders.

Several tours were taken by club members to see and appraise the projects of other members, and these proved very interesting and educational to the members. Several honor meetings were held to distribute pins, ribbons, and medals. One meeting was held at which all medals and honors from the 4-H Fair were distributed. Approximately 100 were in attendance, and it will again be tried next year.

One leaders' training meeting was held on two consecutive nights in October; and while the attendance was not as large as expected, a fair group of leaders turned out for the meetings. Several demonstrations were given on the culling of poultry flocks and special attention paid to the matter of pigmentation. Considerable attention was given to training demonstration teams. The agent found, however, that leaders tended to let this part of the program falter unless the agent made a special effort to be present at all demonstration practices.

Moving pictures and slide films were used frequently at 4-H meetings, and they proved their worth by getting very good attendance. The educational value of the films, in themselves, had considerable merit. Over a hundred individual conferences with leaders were held during the year. The agent found that these were valuable since he was able to reach leaders that might not be able to attend 4-H Club leaders' meetings. One of the devices the writer used to promote increased interest on the part of parents in the program was to call on the parents. In this way, the membership has been increased in several communities and the quality of the work improved.

The assistant agent has made a distinct effort to serve all parts of the county with 4-H Club work, and clubs have been organized in some of the more remote parts of the county. In fact, some of the most active club work is found at some distance from Tucson. Every effort has been used to secure better quality livestock for the 4-H members of the county, and the writer has found Pima County breeders very willing to part with some quality stock. Among breeders who have cooperated with livestock, often at less than market price, are: H. B. Thurber, J-6 Ranch, Wirt G. Bowman, Matt Baird, Smallhouse Ranch, Dr. J. B. McQuown, Shamrock Dairy, Robert Templeton, Erret Burns, and other prominent breeders over the entire county.

ADULT EXTENSION WORK

While the assistant agent spent the major part of his time on 4-H Club work, some part of nearly every month was devoted to rabbits, poultry, home gardens, and other agricultural work.

POULTRY

Considerable time was devoted to poultry problems by the assistant agent. Most of the inquiries were from owners of small flocks and had to do mainly with sanitation and diseases. Several talks on the radio were devoted to the poultry industry and its problems. Poultry as an industry appears to be gaining in strength in Pima County. The market for poultry and poultry products is good, and the price in the past few years has been favorable. A limiting factor has been the cost of establishing a unit large enough and economical enough to provide a good living. This requires an investment of several thousand dollars and considerable business ability. Another factor to be considered is the high cost of feed although this is largely offset by the higher market price for the product.

As a general rule, most raisers of poultry depend on it purely as a supplementary income and not as the primary source. However, poultrymen with experience and a satisfactory plant are making good returns. The time required to operate properly a unit of sufficient size to produce a living has caused many to leave the poultry business and seek a livelihood where less demands are made on their time. A great many newcomers from out of state have contacted this office in relation to getting established in the poultry industry. Many have had insufficient capital, no knowledge or previous experience with poultry, and have been utterly misinformed about the number of hens required to produce a living, the time that must be devoted to the business, and the amount of profits that could properly be expected per unit. Some have entered the poultry business and are apparently making a success of it.

The writer has worked actively with the Southern Arizona Poultry Producers Association serving as chairman of the Publicity Committee. He has also been a member of several other committees and has done everything possible to further the poultry industry in the county.

RABBITS

The rabbit industry in Pima County, while much smaller than the poultry industry, is increasing in size. The returns of the rabbit industry corresponds with those of the poultry industry. The total investment for a unit producing a living would run into thousands of dollars and what the net returns would be would be problematical. The mortality in this industry is as high as in the poultry industry. At the present time, the assistant agent knows of no rabbit ranch that depends entirely upon it for the living. Most rabbit ranches are purely supplementary in income. The market for rabbits is very strong in Tucson, the wholesale price of fryer rabbits now being 60¢ per pound. The limiting factor in this industry is the high temperatures encountered in the summer making some rather expensive cooling system necessary for summer breeding. It is doubtful that any reasonable profit can be made from this industry until year-round breeding can be successfully accomplished. At the present time, the writer doubts that more than three litters can be gotten per year per rabbit without some form of cooling system. In many cases, it may be much less.

Most of the inquiries in respect to this industry have been relative to diseases, sanitation, and the economical aspects of the industry. Under present conditions, the writer would hesitate to recommend that any one invest any important part of his capital in such an unproved industry.

The assistant agent has worked closely with the Southern Arizona Rabbit Breeders Association in the furtherance of this industry on a purely supplementary income basis. He has assisted them in promoting rabbit shows, and one radio broadcast each month has been given over to Norman B. Cobb, secretary of the Arizona State Rabbit Breeders Association.

GARDENS

Many calls have been received by this office respecting home gardens. A considerable volume of literature has been mailed out to residents of the county. In most cases, inquiries were respecting varieties to plant at different times of the year and the proper preparation of the seed bed. A large part of these inquiries have come from newly arrived people from other states. The common tendency of newcomers is to water too often and too little at a time. In a few cases, excessive watering has damaged the garden.

Several broadcasts were devoted to home gardens, and it is felt that this type of information is very practical.

LAWNS AND SHRUBBERY

The writer has given some time to local home owners on this phase of agriculture. Old standbys for lawns in Pima County are Bermuda for summer lawns and Italian Rye Grass for winter lawns.

Several new grasses have been advocated for this climate, but the cost of seed and the narrowness of application in the county has prevented any definite conclusions as to their worth. A great many people with Bermuda grass lawns have been advised that this grass responds readily to nitrogen, and ammonium sulphate has usually been recommended. Any barnyard manure is excellent for lawns, but the quantity is limited in and around Tucson.

The writer has used the services freely of the Extension Horticulturist, Mr. Harvey Tate, in advising on the planting of shrubbery.

ORCHARDS

The assistant agent has been called on a number of times to make recommendations for local home orchards. Mr. Harvey Tate has contributed valuable advice, and several visits were made to small orchards.

CROPS

The writer has worked only a limited amount in this field, and his work has consisted of only a few days' assistance to Mr. Blackledge.

SOILS

This is another phase of the work where the assistant agent has assisted Mr. Blackledge when called upon.

Boy Tops 4-H Beef Judges

Charley Woods, Pima county junior 4-H club member, Flowing Wells Agricultural 4-H club, took top honors among 28 4-H beef judges in Arizona Saturday at the Tucson livestock show. Woods showed his special ability in beef judging at the tryouts for the county team, an ability which may be attributed to his father, G. F. Woods, 4-H club leader at Flowing Wells, who was top individual Jersey judge in the country in 1926, representing the University of Arizona at the National Dairy show in Detroit.

Second place honors were awarded to Alfred Austin, 6-year-old livestock club member from Scottsdale, and Pat Connors, of Scottsdale took third prize. Wayne Corder, of Emery park, was also in the winning class with a fourth prize award.

First place team honors went to the Maricopa county team from Scottsdale. Pinal county team came in for second place. Six teams were so closely bunched that there were only 10 points between the second and seventh team. Members of the Maricopa's winning team were Bill Schrader, Alfred Austin, Carl Cluff, and Phyllis Munch, all of Scottsdale. Other teams competing were from Yuma, Pima, and Maricopa.

The various winners of the contests are having part of their expenses paid to the 4-H round-up to be held in June at the University of Arizona. The Valley National bank of Tucson sponsored the awards.

Starting 'Em Out Right

Pima county's 4-H teams acquitted themselves with both credit and success in judging competitions at the Arizona State Fair in Phoenix these past 10 days. Holding their own against the best teams in the state, the local aggregation accounted for one first, two seconds and three thirds. Six Pima county 4-H teams were in the state-wide 4-H competitions.

The local junior dairy judging team topped all in the state, covering both age divisions. Equal success met the efforts of the poultry and rabbit divisions.

Behind the 4-H programs in Arizona and throughout the nation lies much thought, time and effort on the part of thousands of people who give of their knowledge and experience. Boys and girls take up 4-H work as pre-teen agers, carrying through, usually, their high school years.

They learn of competition; they learn that individual effort pays off; they discover that you get out of an undertaking just about what you put into it. They become acquainted with the disappointments that come from long hours of work, only to see their best effort topped by some other youth's. They acquire that imperishable spark of ambition to better the mark, and the competition, at the next contest.

Arizona's and America's 4-H youth are learning many valuable lessons in addition to the sound tenets of livestock breeding and development and homemaking practices in which they are trained. There is a type of preparation which will adapt them to the problems they will encounter in adult life.

Congratulations are due, not only to this group of youthful winners, but to their mentors, official and amateur. As a guidance program, the 4-H Club program is making a valuable contribution to our nation.

Pima County 4-H Groups Win Well

Several Pima County 4-H Club members left the 4-H field to compete with all the expert breeders in Arizona at the Arizona State Fair. The results indicated that Pima County 4-H Club members can meet the toughest competition.

Outstanding among the winners was Edward Guitteau, 15, of Amphitheater, who showed 40 pigeons in open classes, placing 31 firsts and four seconds. Other outstanding members were Kernie Dishaw, 13, of Emery Park, who showed a large string of New Zealand white rabbits against competition from several states and who placed more firsts and more rabbits than any other New Zealand white breeder in the show. He took three firsts, one second, two thirds, two fourths, and two fifths.

Barney Hunts, 12, of Flowing Wells, has some of the finest sheep in the country as indicated by his winning second junior ram, second junior ewe, Arizona's best junior ram, and Arizona's best junior ewe. Following close behind Barney was his brother, Larry Hunts, 13, who placed third junior Jersey yearling heifer in the open classes. Other 4-H Club members have livestock in open classes which have not yet been judged and will be reported later.

Pima County 4-H Club girls, all representing the Sunnyside 4-H Club, took first place in breakfast menu shown by poster, Lavina Van Hoy. Second place was taken by Phyllis Slack. Foods that club members should eat daily shown by food models, second place was taken by Vivian Zlebis, and third place by Audrey Paddock. Audrey Paddock also placed third in first year clothing.

County 4-H Judging Teams Going to Fair

Judging teams on beef, poultry, dairy, and rabbits will be sent by Pima County 4-H clubs to the Arizona State Fair in Phoenix on Saturday. There they will compete with other teams in their respective fields. They will be accompanied by Mrs. Paul Gitteau, Mrs. John Dayton, and Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Dishaw.

All members of the teams earned their places by winning in tryouts during the past month. The beef judging team consists of Frank Klajda, Mike Lacagnina, Don Paddock, Wayne Corder, and Joan Hussman, all members of the Emery Park club, coached by John Dayton. Dairy team members are Ed Gitteau, Dean Hassen, and Fred McAninch, of the Amphitheater club. The latter club is coached by Delbert Hassen.

Larry Hunts Winner Of Judging Tryouts

Larry Hunts, with a score of 215 out of a possible 300, led the junior division in the second tryouts for the Pima county 4-H dairy judging teams, it was announced yesterday. In the senior division, Edward Guitteau was high with 175. The 4-H roundup will be held June 1 to 4 at the University of Arizona.

Other scores were: senior division, John Harrison, 155; Fred McAninch, 145; and Norman Price, 135. Junior division, Philip Abbott, 205; Clovis Abbott, 200; Sidney Peel, 180; Edward Woods, 175; John Doty, 145; Jerry Coppola, 135; Charles Woods, 125; Dudley Guitteau, 105; William Slack, 100; Maurice Slack, 85; Kernie Dishaw, 45.

The tryouts were held at the Shamrock Dairy under the direction of Ralph Van Sant, extension specialist, and G. F. Woods, Flowing Wells 4-H leader.

AMPHI PUPILS WIN 4-H TRIP

Trio Place as Stand-Outs In Statewide Contests; Go to Chicago

A total of 16 4-H club members will receive free trips to the national 4-H Club Congress in Chicago, November 30 through December 4, because of their outstanding work in agriculture and home economics. Among the outstanding boys and girls selected in the state are three Pima county members—Edward Guitteau, Charlotte Thurston and Dorothy Meikle all of Amphitheater school.

Edward Guitteau won one of the two trips offered by the Cudahy Packing company for outstanding work in meat animal production. Edward has had seven years of club work and shows a gross income of better than $6,000. Among the projects he has carried in these seven years are rabbits, pigs, poultry, turkeys, pigeons, dairy cattle, and beef calves. He has been active in all 4-H club activities, last year being selected as state dairy winner. He has been a member of beef and dairy judging teams and has always placed high in state 4-H club competition.

Home-Ec Expert

Charlotte Thurston has been outstanding in Pima county in home economics over her entire period of six years of club work. She has carried sewing, cooking, and home management. Her trip was sponsored by the Westinghouse Educational Foundation.

Dorothy Meikle has been in club work for four years and has carried homemaking, poultry, and rabbits. She has been a member of several state judging teams including beef judging and poultry judging.

Other winners announced by Kenneth McKee, state leader of 4-H club work, are: Betty Jo Tomkins, Virginia Cluff, and Max Dunlap, Phoenix; Billie Simons, Billy Krygor, and Joan Cannon, Yuma; Mona Berry, Roll; Roy Nelson and Pete Segulja, Gadsden; Mabel Rohrbough, Wellton; Joan Allen, Showlow; Bob Fuller, Mesa; Zeldine Hansen, Joseph City.

Winners in the county contests in Pima county also had good records. The poultry winners were: Dorothy Meikle and Dud Guitteau of Amphitheater; Jerry Coppola and Kernie Dishaw of Emery Park; and Clovis Abbott of Flowing Wells. These members will receive silver medals. In leadership, top honors went to Don Paddock of the Emery Park Livestock Producers club. He will receive a gold leadership medal. The meat animal contest found Wayne Corder and Bob Echols winners of gold medals. The Garden club winner in Pima county is Sidney Peel of the Panther 4-H club of Emery Park.

Other Winners

Home grounds beautification winner in the county is Everett Thurston of Amphitheater. He also was state winner in this contest and will receive a watch. As a state winner, he is entered in the sectional contest consisting of eight states; and the winner of this sectional contest will also receive a trip to Chicago to the National 4-H Congress.

Dairy cattle winners are: Charles Woods of Flowing Wells, gold medal; and Larry Hunts of Flowing Wells, winner of the silver medal. The National 4-H congress is held in Chicago at the time of the international livestock exposition. An eventful program is planned for the state contest winners from throughout the nation this year, reports McKee. The contests are organized through the national committee on Boys and Girls Club Work and are conducted through the state extension services.

Young Judges Know Herefords

TEAM honors went to Maricopa, but a Pima County boy made highest individual score in the 4-H cattle judging contest held in connection with the Tucson Livestock Show, Jan. 25.

The winning team was composed of Alfred Austin, Phyllis Munch, Bill Schrader and Carl Cluff, all from Scottsdale. Their combined score was 1,496 out of a possible 2,400. This may not sound high, but under the circumstances it was excellent. Just ask Jim Armer of the Extension Service, who supervised the event. Among the Hereford classes judged there was plenty of room for Hereford experts to disagree.

Pinal County's team—Lucille Wells, John Colvine, Gene Carter and Eddie Cunningham—placed second with a score of 1,417. Billy Kryger, Jack Garner, Bennie Cornell and Kent Drysdale, from Yuma County, turned in a score of 1,416.2, missing second place by only 0.8 point.

Charley Woods, barely 12 years old and from Flowing Wells north of Tucson, showed that he has the makings of a champion like his dad, Freeman. Back in 1926, when he was a U. of A. student, Freeman was first-place Jersey judge at the National Dairy Show. Charley's score was 429.7.

In points, Alfred Austin was second with 423.8; Pat Conner of Alhambra, third with 421. In the prize distribution Pat ranked as second-high, since Alfred won a bigger prize as a member of the winning team.

Club Leader Al Face brought two teams from Yuma; two competed from Maricopa County under LeRoy Gavette; one from Pinal under Bill Brechan; two from Pima under O. W. Dishaw. Both the Pima teams, however, were coached by John Dayton.

4-H Bug Clubs Are Popular

THOSE 4-H bug clubs started last fall in many parts of Arizona by O. W. Dishaw, asst. Pima County agricultural agent, and J. N. Roney, extension entomologist, have become one of the most popular 4-H projects of the year. Roney told Dinnerbell Time listeners on March 7 that there are now 12 bug clubs active. Three of them are in Pima County, five in Maricopa, two each in Cochise and Graham.

Come 4-H Fair time, there should be a number of good collections to show. As Dishaw and Roney set the program up, each boy or girl must mount a total of 20 different insects, at least two of which must be of a beneficial type. The record book was worked out by Roney, along with directions for making an insect collecting net. He has also given a number of talks at the clubs to help members along with the details of their work.

Interest in bug collecting has spread among parents of the boys and girls, too, according to Roney. "Before you know it, half of Arizona will have caught the bug," he says.

Next year the clubs will specialize in studying control methods used on pests. Probably a month will be devoted to each of the more important pests as they appear. And if interest grows as it has this year, there will be a great many more clubs next year. Insect projects do not interfere with other projects the boys and girls may be carrying.

Three Amphitheatre Club Members Win Chicago Trip

Three Pima county 4-H club members from Amphitheatre will receive free trips to the National 4-H club congress in Chicago for their outstanding work along with 13 other Arizona 4-H members. The congress will be held from Nov. 30 through Dec. 4.

The Amphitheatre winners are: Edward Guitteau who won the free trip offered for his excellent work in the meat animal production and who last year was the state dairy winner; Charlotte Thurston, who was selected for her accomplishments in home economics; and Dorothy Meikle, who won her trip for her projects in homemaking, poultry, and rabbits and who has been a member of several state judging teams.

Ed Guitteau Awarded Top 4-H Dairy Prize

Edward Guitteau, 14-year-old freshman at Amphitheater high school, has been adjudged the state winner in the 4-H dairy production contest and will represent Arizona in the western states sectional contest attempting to win an all-expense trip to the national 4-H club congress in Chicago December 1-5, according to Kenneth McKee, state 4-H leader.

Under the direction of Delbert Hassen, Amphitheater 4-H leader, Guitteau has completed 18 projects in raising rabbits, poultry, hogs and dairy cattle.

Guitteau estimates the total income from his projects at more than $5,000, including produce marketed and that used at home.

Other winners as announced by Kenneth McKee, state 4-H club leader, include: Betty Jo Tompkins, Virginia Cluff, and Max Dunlap, of Phoenix; Billie Simons, Billy Krygor, and Joan Cannon, of Yuma, Mona Berry, of Roll, Roy Nelson and Pete Segulja, of Gadsden; Mabel Rohrbough, of Wellton; Joan Allen, of Showlow; Bob Fuller, of Mesa; Zeldine Hansen, of Joseph City.

Fine records were also achieved by winners in Pima county in the county contests.

The poultry winners were: Dorothy Meikle and Dud Guitteau, of Amphitheatre; Jerry Coppola and Kernie Dishaw, of Emery Park; and Clovis Abbott, of Flowing Wells. These members received silver stars.

A gold medal for tops in leadership was received by Don Paddock, of the Emery Park livestock producers club. Coming in first in the meat animal contest were Wayne Corder and Bob Echols. The garden club winner in Pima county is Sidney Peel, of the Panther 4-H club of Emery Park.

Everett Thurston, of Amphitheatre, was home ground beautification winner in the county and also state winner in this contest for which he will be awarded a gold watch.

Dairy cattle winners are: Charles Woods, of Flowing Wells, gold medal; and Larry Hunts, of Flowing Wells, silver medal.

The national 4-H club congress is being held in Chicago at the time of the International Livestock exposition and an extensive program has been planned for the state contest winners from throughout the country this year, McKee reported.

Biggest Roundup in Arizona's 4-H History is Over

NOTHING at all was wrong with the State 4-H Roundup at the University of Arizona, June 1-2-3, except that it wound up just at the time this Farmer had to go to press. But never mind, boys and girls. There'll be a complete story in the next paper, along with some of the pictures shot by John Craft and maybe some of those snapped by the Old Farm Reporter between broadcasts.

With the help of club reporters from all the seven counties represented, the O.F.R. put on Dinnerbell twice from the University Radio Bureau. They told the folks listening in back home how Billie Simons Clausen and Carole Sorgon of Cochise were the best junior team in of Yuma won the Dress Revue and a trip to the National Club Congress in Chicago. Pima County bragged about how Kernie Dishaw and Sidney Peel placed first in miscellaneous demonstrations among the junior boys. Pinal could rejoice over the triumph of Mary Lou Henness and Mary Ellen Bennett, first in junior home economics demonstrations. Graham heard about how Callis Dickson, Reece Jarvis and Keith Crockett were first junior team in judging dairy cattle. Maricopa could celebrate about how Barbara Peterson, Shirley Hardin and Virginia Cluff put on a senior clothing demonstration that ranked tops. Dinnerbell brought the news that Erlinda Sanchez, Willma home economics judging. And that Shirley Francom, Donna Lee Lunt and Wanda Zumwalt of Greenlee were first juniors in food preparation. Also that Navajo County, with the smallest delegation of all, carried off several ribbons. There was more—much more to be detailed in the Big Farm Paper out two weeks from now.

Over 200 boys and girls attended the Roundup, with a whole flock of their leaders. There were no spectators; all were there to compete in the Dress Revue, judging, demonstrations, and other events. It ended with one grand dinner and presentation of awards, along with some really fine entertainment, in the University dining hall.—E.D.

4-H MARKET DAY CLIMAXES YEAR

County Members Display, Sell Their Products At Safford School

The fruits of a year's labor were realized yesterday by 4-H club members from all over Pima county as they displayed and sold their products at the annual 4-H Market Day, held at the Safford School under sponsorship of the Tucson Chamber of Commerce. Articles displayed and sold ranged from cookies and needlework to beef steers.

Some disappointment was expressed that the steers did not bring higher prices this year. Officials in charge of the affair said prices were little, if any, better than last year, with feed prices higher. The boys and girls who raise livestock for sale at the fair use the money realized to finance their projects for the following year.
