4-H CLUB WORK

HIGHLIGHTS

Our most interesting highlights for this year continues to be the participation of leaders, parents, and club members in taking a responsible portion of the 4-H Club program. More of the responsibility of the Pima County 4-H Fair was given to leaders and parents. Leaders took charge of the different departments and we feel this gave them some recognition at the Fair for their work.

Another important highlight for the year is an increase in 4-H Club enrollments. Our 4-H Club enrollments increased 22% for the fall enrollments. There continues to be a strong interest in 4-H Club work for calls are received quite often from interested parents. Our existing clubs are becoming larger and will have to be divided.

The 4-H Club Annual Talent Show is becoming more popular every year. This year interest was very high and clubs participated in the show from all parts of the county. The acts are getting much more interesting and tryout night is becoming a heartbreak for some and happiness for the members selected to participate. We believe this program should continue to function in the county. This was our second Annual Show.

More 4-H members participated in the 4-H Fair this year. Entries in the agricultural division were increased greatly. This year we had nearly 100 head of livestock at the 4-H Fair.

We were fortunate to have one of our county 4-H members selected this year for a trip to National 4-H Camp in Washington, D. C. This makes the second year in succession that this county has sent a delegate to National Camp. Anita Hand was selected as a delegate this year.

Mildred Johnson and Karen Malone were awarded trips to 4-H Club Congress in Chicago for their work in foods and beef projects.

Members entered in activities of Arizona National Livestock Show, Arizona State and "Make it Yourself with Wool" contests.

COUNTY SITUATION

We are going to have large enrollments next year. Good leadership is going to be a problem in many interested areas. Marana has always been weak in leadership. I am sure there will be something done by local people in this area. Mrs. T. Greenfield will assist in getting leadership and will also help. Efforts are being made to organize Home Economic 4-H Clubs in Marana and Avra Valley.

The Sunnyside community needs two more agricultural clubs in the area. The club is getting too large and should be divided into two groups. This area is becoming more and more interested in 4-H Club work and will be a stronger area some day. The Home Economic Club has been divided into three clubs.

The Amphitheater Club is pretty nearly on the rocks. The club should be reorganized with 4-H members interested in the work. The club members are not working and I believe the club could be started again in the area with new members. The three Home Economics clubs are active and successful. Junior Leaders are contributing to this success.

The Tanque Verde Club should be divided into smaller clubs. Mr. Bill Cook will develop into a good leader if we give him some time to understand the program.

Many of the clubs are getting too close to the city for agricultural projects. The city is expanding into the rural areas and crowding out the livestock projects. New projects such as home yard improvements and electricity, are going to be the major projects for the urban children. Home Economics projects will continue in both areas without any difficulty. All 4-H Club activities in Home Economics are advancing.

NARRATIVE SUMMARY

There were 27 4-H clubs organized during 1954-1955--15 Home Economics and 12 Agriculture. All the clubs are out of school and meet in homes. A few of the clubs use the schools as meeting places.

There were 237 girls and 127 boys enrolled for 1954-1955 club year for a total of 364 with 415 projects.

Enrollments by projects were as follows: 161 clothing, 145 foods, 10 food preservation, 10 home furnishings and 10 girls in junior leadership projects. In the Agricultural Clubs there were 43 beef, 8 boys junior leadership, 5 colt, 3 crafts, 3 soil, water, and sunshine. 3 dairy, 14 garden, 17 goats, 1 home beautification, 10 insects, 43 poultry, 36 rabbits, 38 sheep, 10 swine, and 11 tractor maintainance.

One meeting was held with the state leader to make a plan for the year's 4-H program. This plan was mimeographed and sent to all leaders in the county.

Seven leader training meetings were held in Agriculture clubs. Nine leader training meetings were held in Home Economics clubs.

One 4-H Fair was held on April 14, 15 and 16 at the Pima County Fairgrounds and a Talent Show was held on March 18, 1955. There was participation in the County Fair held in October.

The most outstanding point in 4-H Club is that it teaches children to learn by doing. It teaches them responsibility. An animal needs care and the child will have to care for it and this helps the 4-H member to see responsibility in action.

Club members also meet other boys and girls through club meetings, county meetings, and state competitive contests. This gives them a chance to learn how to get along with other boys and girls from other communities and they learn to work together for a better understanding of one another.

4-H Club work is different for the boys and girls must work to obtain completion. Parents of club members usually like 4-H Club work once they are acquainted with the program.

ORGANIZATION AND PLANNING

New 4-H Clubs are organized by request from the parents or children in the community. Leadership is found by prospective club members suggesting leadership. Usually the suggested leaders are parents of the prospective club members. The agent contacts the new leaders and explains club work to them.

Interest in club work has increased in the county during the past several years. Publicity by radio, television and newspapers of special events has helped a great deal to promote club work in the county.

Old clubs were organized by the leaders. If old leaders dropped membership, new leaders were found by members or parents. The agent contacted the suggested leaders to see if they would accept and explained the program to them.

All of the 27 clubs in Pima County are mixed project clubs, except the Tractor Maintenance Club. In the Home Economics Clubs girls usually take clothing and foods with smaller numbers enrolling in home furnishings and food preservation. Beef, sheep, poultry and rabbits are the projects taken by most of the Agriculture Club members. There are very little dairy projects, but dairy goat projects have been growing larger. Training meetings are a problem for these clubs. Program planning meetings for leaders and junior leaders have been held for program planning.

Homemakers Clubs have helped the 4-H Clubs at the Fair in the food booth. They also donated food for the food booth.

The 4-H Council has been very active this year. Attendance has always been over 25 per meeting. They have taken over the major responsibility of assisting the agent with planning and helping with 4-H Party, Talent Show, 4-H Fair and other county activities.

Parents are a very important factor on whether a club member does good 4-H work. Some home visits are made during the club year, but it is impossible to do a great deal of this work. The topics discussed were different projects, costs and the purpose of 4-H work. The agent met with clubs from time to time to assist with their programs and help with project problems.

LEADERSHIP OF 4-H CLUB WORK

1. Source of Leadership

There were 3 teachers leading 4-H Clubs in Pima County this year. All of the clubs met after school hours and none of the clubs were connected with the schools. One of the teacher leaders is not a parent of club members.

There were 27 lay leaders during the club year. Five of the leaders are not parents of club members.

Most of our leaders come from parents of club members. Parents think that 4-H Club work is important for their children and so lead clubs in order that their children will have club work in the community. Parents make good leaders for they take a personal interest in club work.

There were 21 boys and girls enrolled with 19 completing in the junior leadership project. The agents held leader training meetings during the year for the purpose of helping the junior leaders in project work. More work should be done with the junior leaders in order to give them work closer with the leader in many cases. They are our future leaders and now is the time to train them for future leadership. It is much easier to get a junior leader to a meeting than leaders with family obligations. We believe we are overlooking a good thing if we do not develop this program more fully. We will meet with junior leaders once per month during the coming year.

Leadership in the 4-H program is pretty good. There are some communities where changes should be made. The Sunnyside club should be divided into three groups with leaders for each group. The club is getting too large for one leader. Some work was done in the Marana area in leadership. Members are interested and the club needs a strong leader in this community to start next year and this will be the best opportunity to get the leadership. Some effort should be made to start a small club at Sopori. There has been no interest in this area, but it should be checked for next year. The Amphitheater Club may not be too good, since it has become more urban every year.

2. Leader Training Program

Agriculture leader training meetings are not as well attended as we would like to have them. It is hard to get the leaders to come for they work at different times and are unable to attend the meetings.

Some leader training is done by personal contact where leaders live a long way from the meeting place.

Leader training was held on record books before the 4-H Fair. Leader training programs could be developed for both Home Economic Leaders and Agriculture programs on subjects such as record books, organization and planning and club meetings. This has been started this year.

The junior leaders have been invited to attend some leader training meetings. All clubs who have junior leader projects have a written club program. The junior leaders meet with the leader to plan the year's program. They assist the leader with project visits, planning club events, demonstrations at meetings, and assisting with members' records. They give the leader a great deal of help if properly supervised. They assist in training members in judging in both Agricultural and Home Economics projects.

LOCAL 4-H CLUB PROGRAM

Many of the clubs had their own Achievement Days this year. We had a County Achievement Day in the fall. The clubs like to hold their own local Achievement Days to give reports and show their parents what they have accomplished.

About 75% of the clubs use a written club program. The planned program is encouraged to give the club a guide to train for different county events and help to complete the club member through the year, rather than waiting till the last club meeting. The program should never be made rigid, but changed accordingly to give the best all-around program.

Demonstrations could be pushed in the county. Club members are still afraid of the demonstrations. Showing that a demonstration is simple is very important in order to get them started. Girls are more apt in this activity; they really enjoy giving demonstrations.

Judging is still a leader among 4-H members. All of the members like to enter judging contests.

Health and safety activities should be stressed in the county. Clubs are doing very little work on this phase and a planned program is needed for the county.

4-H ACTIVITIES

4-H CLUB FAIR

We feel that the 4-H Fair was very successful this year. A great deal of time was taken to plan the Fair in order that leaders would take part in each event. All of the leaders cooperated with setting up the Fair and in handling the different phases of judging. We feel that the leaders should have the opportunity to work in the Fair, since they work with the members during the year. They will understand more about the Fair if they have the opportunity to help with it.

The food booth did not have the business that was anticipated. We made some money, but for the four days of operation, it was not too successful. I think that the food stand (1) under the grandstand was too far from activities, (2) cattle show people did not give the support that was anticipated, (3) lost money on pop bottles. Mrs. Linner was on this committee.

The grounds committee did an excellent job of setting up the Fair. We had much more stock this year, than we ever had before at a 4-H Fair. Pens for the small stock turned out to be a big problem. There were a total of 46 pens built for the small stock and we did not have room to build more. We needed more room for goats and breeding sheep. Panels for the pens should be stored in a more secure place. We find that we lose a few of them every year from people boarding horses. They use them for making stalls or patching of their own stalls. It was necessary to build new panels this year.

Next year we believe that our show will have to be held separate from other shows. The new barn will probably be used only for the livestock show. They will probably be able to fill the building easily. Our 4-H Fair will probably have to be held on another date. The Hereford Show certainly gave the 4-H Fair a great deal of help and we appreciate their assistance in giving us a judge and auctioneer and many other small favors.

The new barn was a large improvement over the old adobe barns. We had to do very little cleaning this year. The barn is much easier to keep clean and dust is not a big problem.

Fair Judges for Agriculture and Home Economics:

Mrs. Helen Adams	Dairy Goats
Mr. H. Hines	Poultry
Mr. R. Templeton	Rabbits
Mr. L. Annis	Pigeons
Mr. C. Safely	Swine
Mr. G. Zeidler	Sheep
Mr. F. Arledge	Beef
Mrs. Elsie Morris	Foods
Miss Helen Church	Clothing
Miss Grace Ryan	Home Furnishings
Mr. E. Allen	Colt Training and Showmanship
Mr. W. Brittain	Auctioneer

There was a total of fifteen radio and television programs before the Fair. Mrs. A. Griggs visited all the stations for the publicity. Many of the shows consisted of 4-H club members with their projects. The stations also gave spot announcements concerning the 4-H Fair. Posters were made for television spot announcements, with the help of Mr. R. Hutchinson, Information Specialist.

The 4-H Club members made posters at their homes to put in the windows and schools. A committee was appointed and met in the county office one night to plan their posters.

Other publicity was secured by calling the different civic clubs. The 4-H Club members appeared before 8 different civic clubs to give speeches on 4-H work and present a talent show. Many of the members enjoyed this work and we did get a considerable amount of inquiries on how people can help with 4-H club work.

Our publicity is continually getting bigger and bigger every year. More and more of the work has to be turned over to the leaders and club members. We spent a great deal of time contacting and assisting all of club members responsible for some part in the publicity program.

4-H Club Auction

There was a total of 78 head of stock in the auction. The amount is higher than it has ever been in Pima County. We feel that our sale was pretty good for the number of animal sold. The 4-H Auction actually does not help 4-H to any great extent. We believe that we get some children coming into 4-H thinking that they are going to make lots of money from the auction. They do not realize that we are trying to teach them livestock raising. The agent let it be known that we had a large number of animal to sell and some of the club members were going to lose money on their projects. There was very little comment after the sale regarding prices by parents or club members.

The publicity was planned by the sale's committee. The city was divided into sections and each group of club members contacted buyers in their area. An adult committee also contacted buyers for the sale.

This year each club brought in their record books. The record books were entered as clubs and judged on a club basis. Mr. Arthur Smith's Flowing Wells Farmers Club received the highest number of points. They were awarded a gavel for the prize. We hope this will stimulate more interest in record books and help the leaders get more completed record books by Fair time.

A summary of the 4-H Fair shows that there were 291 clothing exhibits. Also 197 Food Preparation exhibits and 39 were entered in Food Preservation and 49 in Home Furnishings exhibits. This was a substantial increase over last year's exhibits of 165 clothing, 21 home furnishings, 179 food preparation and 17 food preservation. 27 girls participated in the dress revue; demonstration and judging contests were held at a separate time.

Elimination Contests

Judging and demonstration Elimination Contests were scheduled for two days in July rather than at the April 4-H Fair. Two reasons for this change in policy were: 1. Allow girls who were continuing their project work through the summer months a chance to participate in the events and be eligible for Roundup competition in August. 2. It was our desire to make these events more meaningful and educational for the 4-H club girls and leaders.

On the first day the Judging and Dress Revue events were held. The schedule was arranged so that the girls could judge in as many categories as they chose. With the able assistance of the leaders, who were assigned specific jobs, the judging contest was very successful. A total of 69 girls participated in the Judging Contests. Approximately 100 4-H members, leaders, mothers, and friends attended the first day of competitions. The second day was devoted to demonstrations with results of all contests announced at the close of the day's session. There were 25 demonstrations presented in the various categories. Approximately 75 people watched the girls present their demonstrations.

4-H Clubs Talent Show

The second talent show was held this year at the Amphitheater High School Auditorium on March 18, 1955. The show was successful and the auditorium was nearly filled.

The tryouts were held at Flowing Wells School. There were twenty-five different acts from clubs in Pima County. Judges selected fifteen acts to appear on the talent show. We believe interest is growing in this county event, and we are sure that it will continue.

Mr. A. Smith and Mrs. J. Dailey were co-chairmen for the event. Mrs. G. Burris headed a refreshment committee. The judges for the show were Mr. Charles Hall, Mrs. Marion Neil and Mrs. Hubert Waech. Mr. John Dayton served as Master of Ceremonies and did a very fine job.

The talent show serves to give 4-H Club members a chance to display local talent and an opportunity to give the club some esprit de corps.

NATIONAL LIVESTOCK SHOW

This county had two teams represented at the National Livestock Show in Phoenix. The teams placed eighth and fourteenth in the judging contests. There were twenty-three teams entered in the contest. The teams included:

Sam Dukes	Danny Klingenberg
Dwight Luther	Karen Malone
Janet Brant	John Klingenberg

Rocky Greenfield and Susan Greenfield showed two steers and 2 Angus heifers in the junior show. Susan's Angus heifer was Grand Champion and Rocky's was Reserve Champion.

No 4-H members participated in the calf scramble. This could be due to the following factors:

1. The members cannot choose the animals.
2. Members pay a high price for the stock.
3. Member may be screened after they have a year of expensive feed in the animal.
4. Transportation and school are problems, also.
5. The boy must be financially able to take a loss in this program.

FALL PARTY (continued)

in December, 1954. All club members and parents were invited. County award medals were given to the club members and clubs also prepared skits. The county recreation misunderstood, and the square dance caller did not come for the dancing.

STATE CONTESTS

Miss Anita Hand was selected as a delegate for the National Club Camp and National Club Congress. We are quite proud in this county that we have had one club member each of the past two years selected for this trip. We are sure that Anita will be a very fine representative for this county.

NATIONAL 4-H CLUB WEEK

A committee was selected from the 4-H Council to plan a National 4-H Club Week county window displays. The committee submitted a plan to follow and got permission from J. C. Penney Company to use their window. Mr. Joe McClelland, Information Specialist, assisted with the planning of this display. The window decorator, Bob Patterson, assisted in erecting the display in the window.

Clubs in the county prepared window displays in other stores in various neighborhoods. Some clubs gave speeches on 4-H Club work.

4-H Camp

There were 29 4-H members attending Camp this year from Pima County. This included four boys and twenty-five girls. This County had filled the original quota and still had several members on the waiting list. However, due to the fact that the original quota was reduced, several members had to be dropped. In each case the parents were contacted and the situation was explained.

Club members travelled by bus to Mt. Lemmon and returned the same way.

Members were charged a total of $13.35 which included $11.00 camp fee, $2.00 for transportation and 35¢ for insurance.

4-H ROUNDUP

Pima County had 23 boys and 25 girls competing at the Roundup this year. Both boys and girls did exceptionally well in their respective divisions.

The boys stayed in Hopi Lodge and the girls at Gila Hall.

The 4-H Council paid half of the Roundup fee and the members paid the other half, plus a slight charge for insurance. There were no transportation charges.

RURAL LIFE SUNDAY

National Rural Life Sunday was recognized in the St. James Methodist Church on May 15. This is the second time that the day has been set aside and plans made on a countywide basis. Rev. Clovis Snyder is cooperating with the agent and leaders for recognition of this Sunday of the Heart "H."

We hope that this activity will continue to improve each year.

OUTLOOK AND RECOMMENDATIONS

4-H Club work will continue to increase in the county. New projects in home yard improvement and an electrical program will help take the place of livestock projects where the area is getting too urban. We believe that plenty of activity will keep the club members' interest and we are bound to grow with it.

The 4-H Club Council has been running very well the past two years. The Council will continue to take a lead as long as the agents will continue to encourage them to take over responsibility of parts of the 4-H program.

We believe the tractor project under the leadership of Paul Klingenberg was very successful and more of this type of club work should be encouraged. Mr. Harper from the Flowing Wells Community is the leader of a new electrical club. He is an electrician and will give the members much help.

Leadership should be improved in the Drexel Heights and Marana areas. Clubs should be divided in the Sunnyside and Catalina Areas. Prospects for girls' work in the Marana and Avra Valley areas are good.

The 4-H Auction at the Fair serves to do only one thing and that is a way to dispose of 4-H Fat Stock. There is entirely too much emphasis put on this one event. 4-H members and parents look to 4-H as a way to make a lot of money and do not put any emphasis on the educational value of the program.
