GENERAL INFORMATION

THE UNIVERSITY

The University of Arizona, situated at Tucson, is an integral part of the system of public education established by and for the state. Its purpose, in the language of the organic law, is "to provide the inhabitants of this state with the means of acquiring a thorough knowledge of the various branches of literature, science and the arts," and, in so far as possible, a technical education adapted to the development of the resources peculiar to Arizona. In furtherance of this purpose, the College of Agriculture, the School of Home Economics, the Agricultural Experiment Station, the Agricultural Extension Service, the College of Education, the College of Engineering, the College of Law, the College of Liberal Arts, the College of Business and Public Administration, the College of Fine Arts, the School of Music, the Graduate College, the College of Mines, the Arizona Bureau of Mines, the University Extension Division, the School of Military Science and Tactics, the State Museum, and the Steward Observatory have been organized. In creating the University the Legislative Assembly wisely unified under one management these various colleges and institutions of higher learning and investigation.

The general organization of the University is in accordance with the Act of Congress of July 2, 1862, known as the Morrill Act, creating the "Land Grant Colleges." The details of its organization and government are regulated by the act of the Legislative Assembly of the Territory of Arizona, passed in 1885, and subsequent acts of the Legislature.

The University of Arizona is on the accredited list of the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools as a degree-granting institution, and on the list of approved colleges of the Association of American Universities.

COLLEGE OF LAW

The University of Arizona College of Law is a member of the Association of American Law Schools and is rated by the American Bar Association as an approved school on the basis of the following pronouncement:

The American Bar Association is of the opinion that every candidate for admission to the bar should give evidence of graduation from a law school complying with the following standards:

It shall require as a condition of admission at least 2 years of study in a college.

It shall require its students to pursue a course of 3 years' duration, if they devote substantially all of their working time to their studies, and a longer course, equivalent in the number of working hours, if they devote only part of their working time to their studies.

It shall provide an adequate library available for the use of the students.

It shall have among its teachers a sufficient number giving their entire time to the school to insure personal acquaintance and influence with the whole student body.

The Law Building, a structure of red brick and Bedford limestone contains classrooms, a modern courtroom, faculty offices and conference rooms, a commodious reading and study room, and ample stack room space in which is housed the Law Library.

The Law Library contains over 27,000 bound volumes. Included in this library are the reported cases of all the jurisdictions in the United States and substantially all of the English reported cases, American and English statutory law, complete sets of the leading legal periodicals, and a carefully selected collection of legal encyclopedias, digests, treatises, and textbooks.

ADMISSION

Students applying for admission to the College of Law must present to the Dean of the College a certificate of the University Registrar certifying that the applicant has completed all prelegal requirements.

Except as to honorably discharged persons who have had at least 1 year in military service, as defined in the Soldiers' and Sailors' Civil Relief Act, 50 U.S.C.A. App., Sec. 511, students commencing the study of law will be admitted to the College of Law only at the beginning of the fall semester. Students who have completed satisfactorily 1 full semester or more of law study in the University of Arizona or in some other approved law school may enter at the beginning of either semester.

Candidates for the degree of Bachelor of Laws must have completed in residence, at the University of Arizona or at some other college or university whose credit is given "full value" in the Annual Report compiled by the American Association of Collegiate Registrars, not less than 90 semester units of credit, which is the normal achievement in 3 academic years of college work, provided, however, that honorably discharged persons who have had at least 1 year in military service, as defined above, may be admitted as candidates for the degree of Bachelor of Laws, during the academic years 1949-50 and 1950-51, with 62½ semester units of such credit.

Nontheory courses in military science, hygiene, domestic arts, physical education, vocal or instrumental music, practice teaching, teaching methods and techniques, and other courses without substantive content appropriate to the study of law, may not be included in the credits presented for admission to the College of Law, except that "required" nontheory work may be accepted up to 10 per cent of the total credit offered for admission.

All such prelegal work, exclusive of nontheory courses, must have been completed with an average of 3 (C) or better and a scholastic average at least equal to the average required for graduation in the institution attended. If more than one institution has been attended the scholastic requirements of the last institution are applied, but based upon the entire prelegal work, exclusive of nontheory credit, undertaken in all the institutions attended.

Students desiring to be admitted to the College of Law should have their applications, together with a transcript of their prelegal work, in the hands of the University Registrar not later than September 1 for first-semester registration. Students completing their prelegal work in some other college or university must furnish the University Registrar, in addition to a transcript of their record, with a certificate from the registrar of the institution where such work was completed to the effect that the grade average attained is at least equal to the average required for graduation in that institution.

At the time of admission to the College of Law, a written statement as to previous attendance at other law schools will be required by the Dean of the College.

PRELEGAL STUDIES

It is suggested that prelaw students, in selecting their elective courses of study, choose from courses open to them in economics, mathematics, sociology, political science, English, speech, foreign language, history, philosophy, psychology, and it is strongly urged that all prelaw students complete a course in elementary accounting.

Credit earned through correspondence or by examination is not acceptable as prelegal credit for the College of Law. Credit earned by extension is acceptable only when the courses were conducted in regular class sessions, by and under the personal supervision of members of the instructional staff of an accredited college or university in which the candidate was at the time a regularly enrolled student.

SPECIAL STUDENTS

A limited number of students with fewer than the academic credits required for candidates for the law degree may be admitted as special students. An applicant for admission as a special student must be at least 23 years of age, and his experience and educational training must have been such as, in the judgment of the Law Faculty, to have specially equipped him for the successful study of law. The number of special students admitted to the College of Law each year is limited to 10 per cent of the average number of students admitted by the College of Law as beginning regular students during the 2 preceding academic years. Application for admission as such special student must be made to the Registrar of the University well in advance of the beginning of the regular academic year for the purpose of submission to the Dean of the College of Law. Such applications will be considered and acted upon at the first meeting of the Law Faculty after September 1 of each year. Special students are not candidates for the law degree, and upon completion of their law study are not eligible for bar examinations in Arizona nor in such other states as require graduation from a law school approved by the American Bar Association as a prerequisite for bar admission.

ADMISSION TO ADVANCED STANDING

A student transferring to the College of Law of the University of Arizona will not be given credit toward the law degree for courses of law pursued in another American law school which at the time the credit was earned was not either a member of the Association of American Law Schools or approved or provisionally approved by the American Bar Association; provided, however, that credit may be given for work taken in an American law school within three calendar years immediately preceding its provisional approval by the American Bar Association.

A student transferring from a law school which is approved or provisionally approved by the American Bar Association but which is not a member of the Association of American Law Schools may be admitted and given credit toward the law degree for courses of law study pursued in such law school upon petition approved by the College of Law Faculty.

A student transferring from a law school which is a member of the Association of American Law Schools will be given credit toward the law degree for courses of law study satisfactorily pursued in such law school with allowance for proper equation of credit.

A transferring student must present:

1. An official transcript of his prelegal course of study, which must be sufficient to meet the requirements for admission to the College of Law of the University of Arizona.
2. An official transcript of his law study.

3. A letter from the dean of the law school from which he transfers to the effect that he is presently eligible to reregister in that law school.

Admission will not be granted to a student who has been disqualified or placed on probation in another law school, or who has an average of less than 3 (C) on all law work previously attempted. The number of units in a barely passing grade credited to students admitted to advanced standing may not exceed 20 per cent of the total number of units completed.

REQUIREMENTS FOR THE BACHELOR OF LAWS DEGREE

To secure the degree in law from the University of Arizona, a candidate for such degree must:

1. Have met fully all prelegal requirements established by the University of Arizona for the admission to its College of Law of students as candidates for the law degree.

2. To have completed at least 3 full academic years in residence study of law in accredited law schools. When part of such study has been done in other and accredited schools, the work of the third or last year, comprising not less than 24 units of law credit, must be done in residence in this University.

3. Have secured by and during such 3 or more years of residence study not less than 80 units of credit in law courses, including the courses designated below as "Required," with a grade average of at least 3 (C) in all law courses undertaken.

4. "Completed . . . in residence study" means that a student has registered for a schedule of work represented by a minimum of 10 class hours per week; but in case a student fails to pass work equal to 9 class hours per week, he shall not receive "residence credit" in excess of the ratio that the hours passed bear to nine. A student enrolled in a schedule of less than 10 class hours a week shall receive "residence credit" in the ratio that the hours passed bear to ten.

COMBINED COURSE OF STUDY FOR STUDENTS DESIRING THE ACADEMIC DEGREE AND THE BACHELOR OF LAWS DEGREE

For students matriculating in the University of Arizona, the University offers in its colleges of Liberal Arts, Business and Public Administration, and of Law, a combined course whereby its students may secure the academic bachelor's degree and the degree of Bachelor of Laws in the period of 6 years.

Students desiring to take advantage of this combined course of liberal arts and law should register in the College of Liberal Arts for 4 years and in the College of Law for 2 years. The work of the senior year under the registration in the College of Liberal Arts is done, however, under the supervision of the Law Faculty.

Students registering for this combined course will be awarded the academic bachelor's degree under the following conditions:

They must be regularly matriculated in the University, and, before registering in the College of Law as candidates for the law degree, must have successfully completed all the work required in the College of Liberal Arts for graduation with a bachelor's degree, except a possible maximum of 28 units of electives. This academic course must include:

1. A major in the College of Liberal Arts selected by the student and approved by the major professor and Dean of that College.
2. All other subject and group requirements established in the College of Liberal Arts.
3. Not to exceed 28 units of law in courses to be determined by the Law Faculty.
4. Academic electives to meet the 125 units required for graduation from the College of Liberal Arts.
5. Students transferring from other institutions may not register for the work in law under this combined course without first meeting the residence requirement of 30 units of prelegal credit in the College of Liberal Arts of the University of Arizona.

Upon receipt of the academic bachelor's degree in this combined course, the student will be admitted into the College of Law as a candidate for the degree of Bachelor of Laws under the conditions above set forth.

*Offered in 1949-50 and alternate years.

†Offered in 1950-51 and alternate years.

‡Prerequisites: Law 101, 128, 141, 146, and 184.

Business Administration and Law

Students desiring to take advantage of the combined course of business administration and law, or who desire to complete their work in business administration in 3 years, electing the fourth year in law, must register for all required courses of the curriculum other than Business Administration 120a-120b (Business Law). It is recommended that such students select a regular major; however, by special request such students may be allowed to substitute for the major 18 units of work selected with the written approval of the Dean of the College of Business and Public Administration.

Students in other colleges may be candidates for degrees awarded upon completion of combined 6-year courses upon meeting equivalent requirements and upon petition to and approval by the faculties of their respective colleges and of the College of Law.

REGULATIONS AFFECTING STUDENTS

Grading System

The grades awarded in the courses of study are given on a basis of relative position in a series. These grades are: 1, 2, 3, 4, and 5. Grades 1 to 4 indicate different ranks of passing work; grade 5 indicates failure. Inc., incomplete, is used to indicate deferred grading because of illness or other accepted reasons, a deficiency that may be made up within 1 year at the convenience of the instructor; W is used to indicate satisfactory work at time of approved withdrawal; 5 a failure (credit may be obtained only by repeating the course).

Scholarship Requirements

Continuance in college.—All students, to be in good standing, are required to carry with a passing grade more than 50 per cent of the work for which they are registered. Failure to meet this requirement automatically places the student on probation, but after a review of his case by the dean or the scholarship committee of the college concerned and upon approval of the Advisory Council, he may be disqualified by the University. Students disqualified by the University at the end of a semester are ineligible for the following semester. Students who register in the University after a period of ineligibility are registered on probation.

Students who have been disqualified twice for failure in scholarship may not return except on evidence that underlying conditions have materially improved and that they are now capable of serious intellectual effort.

Maximum units.—Students in the College of Law may not register for more than 15 units of work. Those finding it necessary to engage in gainful occupations for self-support while pursuing their law course must decrease proportionately their load of law study.

Tuition and Fees

(University fees are effective only during the years covered by the catalogue in which they are listed. The Board of Regents reserves the right to change all fees and charges from time to time without notice if necessary.)

Matriculation fees.—All students registering for 6 units or more are required to pay a registration fee of $15, a student activity fee of $8.75, a health service fee of $3, a library fee of $2, and a University Series fee of $1.25 each semester.

Law College fee.—All students registering for 6 units or more of law are required to pay a fee of $25 each semester in addition to other fees. Students registering for 5 units or less of law are required to pay a fee of $4 per unit each semester in addition to other fees.

Nonresident tuition fee.—Every nonresident student carrying 12 or more units shall be required to pay a nonresident fee of $150 each semester. Those carrying less than 12 units will pay a nonresident fee of $12.50 per unit.

Late registration.—Students who fail to appear for the purpose of registering on the day scheduled for registration and students who fail to complete registration by payment of all fees during the week of the opening of classes are charged a late registration fee of $5.

Change of registration.—For any change in registration other than withdrawal with a failing grade of 5, a fee of $1 will be charged. This fee is effective the first day after the close of registration as scheduled.

Late petition for degree.—For petition for candidacy for a degree filed after May 1 of the second year of law (provided such second year has been the year immediately preceding that in which graduation is desired) a fee of $2 will be charged.

Graduation fee.—Every candidate for a degree is required to pay a graduation fee of $15 unless the candidate has already taken a degree in the University, in which case a fee of $5 is charged. This fee is payable at the time of registration for the semester in which they expect to complete requirements for their degree. An additional fee of $1 is charged when it is necessary to mail the diploma to a student excused from attending the commencement exercises.

Student Accommodations

Residence halls.—Residence in dormitories is limited to undergraduate students, preference being given to Arizona students who are carrying 12 or more units of work.

Reservation of dormitory rooms.—Application for the reservation of a dormitory room should be made to the Residence Department of the University immediately upon receipt of notification from the Registrar that admission has been granted. As the accommodations are limited and all the rooms are usually engaged before the opening of the college year, students should make early application. A deposit of $10 must accompany each application for room. This will apply as security against damage to or loss of the University property. This deposit is refunded when a student leaves the dormitory, provided all charges for loss or damage against the student have been paid.

Student Marriages

At the time of registration all students must indicate on the registration card whether they are married or single. In order that this record may be correct at all times, any marriage, either party to which is a student of the University or Arizona, must be reported immediately. In the case of a woman student the report is to be made to the Dean of Women, and in the case of a man student to the Dean of Men. These officers will then report the marriage to the Registrar's office for the correction of the records. Failure to report in conformity to the above provision will subject the student to suspension from the University and to the loss of such credits as may have been established between the date of marriage and the date the marriage is discovered.

Prizes and Awards

The Fegly Moot Court award.—The Student Bar Association of the College of Law has given a plaque, on which will be engraved each year the names of the two students paired in the third-year law class who win first place in the Fegly Moot Court competition.

Legal textbook award.—A member of the law faculty offers a copy of the leading text on torts to that student who has the highest scholastic average for the first two years in law school.

The Nathan Burkan memorial competition.—The American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers offers annually a prize of $100 to the member of the graduating class of the College of Law who submits the best paper on some aspect of the subject of copyright law. The competition is open under such rules as shall be specified by the Dean of the College of Law.

Phi Alpha Delta award.—The Knox Chapter of Phi Alpha Delta, Law Fraternity, has given a cup on which is to be inscribed each year the name of the winner of the Phi Alpha Delta Speech Contest.

Phi Delta Phi scholarship award.—The Samuel L. Pattee Inn, the University of Arizona Chapter of the International Legal Fraternity, Phi Delta Phi, in order to promote scholarly attainment, has given a plaque on which will be engraved each year the name of the graduating senior who has the highest scholarship average for the full 3 years of his law course, at least 1 year of which must have been completed at the University of Arizona.

There are other prizes, awards, and scholarships in the University for which students in the College of Law may be eligible. These are listed in the Biennial Catalogue.
